

Report of

✉ Email: @gmail.com

☎ Phone:

📅 Application date:

Your aspirations

The radar chart allows you to view your work aspirations.

Your culture

The chart below allows you to better understand your preferences in terms of corporate culture.

Legend

○ ██████████

Description of your cultural preferences

Your main trait is having a clear willingness to work in a flexible organization. Procedural structure or an organization with a strict control suits you less. You will do best in an organization focused on innovation, creation, or in a company that has a more cooperative spirit.

Matches with personal values

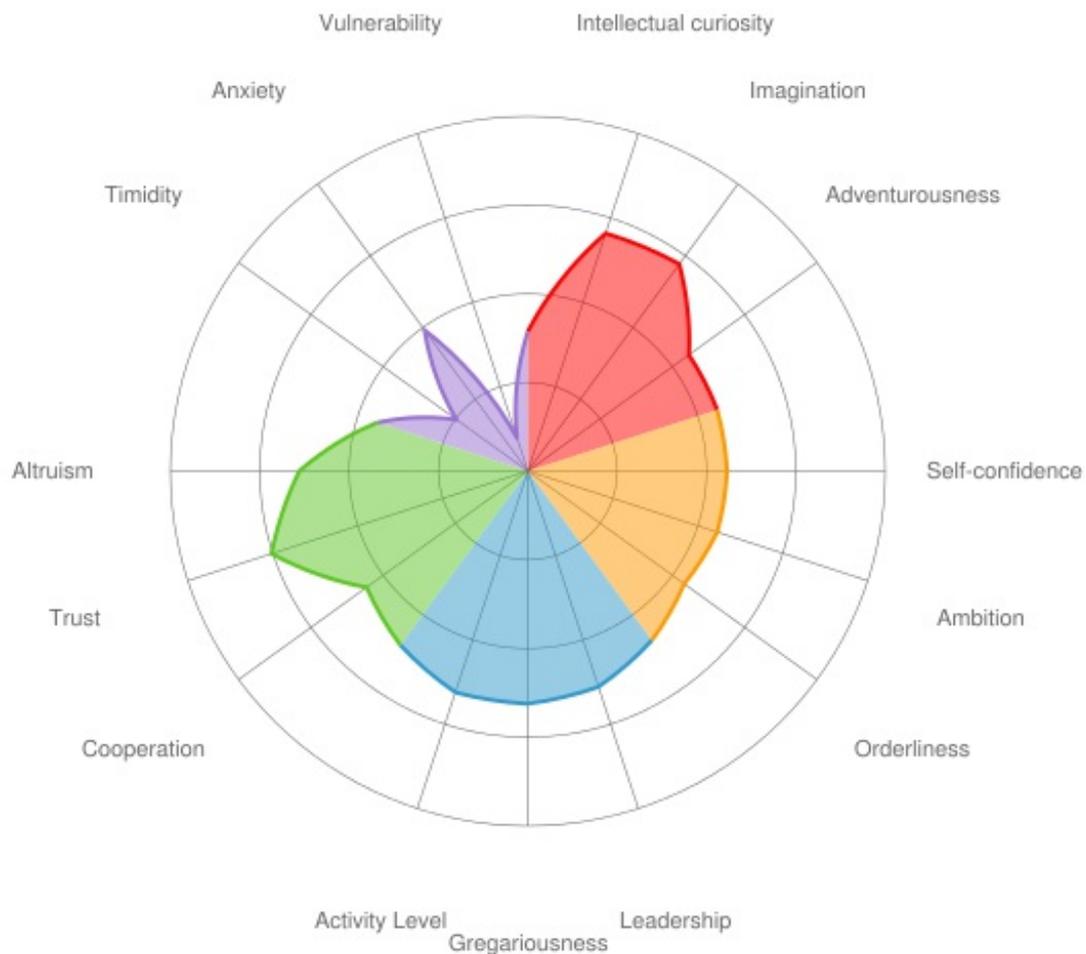

Legend

Your Personality

Personality is the most stable structure of a psychological profile. A personality in line with a corporate culture will allow you to quickly assimilate the corporate values.

■ Openness to experience
 ■ Conscientiousness
 ■ Extraversion
 ■ Agreeableness
 ■ Neuroticism

Relation to work

You are naturally a confident and optimistic person. You show a lot of energy and sturdiness in your work. Your ambition punctuates your compelling need for success. You enjoy collaborative work because the company of others encourages you.

Relationship to Others

You like interaction and your social skills make you a valuable coworker. You care about the welfare and the needs of others and you are encouraged when you can help your associates. You appreciate cooperation and social harmony. You like to feel a part of the group, to share your knowledge, and receive advice. Your skills are asked for in teamwork as you are able to create a good working climate.

You value social harmony, it is essential for you that everyone approves. In difficult situations you prefer compromise to conflict. Your coworkers say that you are friendly and cooperative.

Relationship to Management

You prove to be both ingenious and imaginative in your way of thinking, and conformist in your actions. You use your intelligence to contribute to common needs. With your perceptive and analytical abilities, you quickly find effective ways to solve problems. Respectful of rules, you are also a persevering, diligent, and trustworthy person.

You have an entrepreneurial and combative character. You are a success-oriented person and your ambition can push you to a leading position. Your competitive nature increases your energy. Most of the time active and tenacious, you do not sway from difficulties.

Emotional Management

You're quite a positive person able to manage your negative emotions. You are not easily upset and you know how to cope with everyday difficulties. You're a stable person who tends to look on the bright side of things.

Leadership and Managerial Ability

You tend to express yourself with conviction and take a public stand. You are an influential person, and you know how to communicate your optimism. In a leadership position, you know how to intellectually stimulate your team and consider each of your collaborators.

You possess all the qualities needed to foster competitiveness and innovation. In fact, you have the skills to intellectually stimulate your working group. You try hard to enable individuals to go further, to generate new ideas, and be creative. All this is necessary for innovation.